

Dave Flynn
Senior Vice President, Services

Dave Flynn leads the Services team at OneNeck and is responsible for professional services delivery of advanced solutions for the benefit of OneNeck customers. This talented group of employees includes Solution Architects, Engineers and Project Managers. Together, their advanced technical skills and expertise help OneNeck's customers select, design, build, implement and transition hybrid cloud solutions to drive the realization of customer business value.

Dave joined OneNeck in 2014 as the vice president of Professional Services. For two and a half years, he led the OneNeck Managed Services team and then transitioned into his current role in late 2018. He works out of the OneNeck office in Madison, Wisconsin.

Prior to joining OneNeck, Dave gained critical experience working for an independent software vendor, with a focus on delivering CPQ software in the building industry. After beginning his career in technical consulting, Dave joined a major IT solutions provider in Wisconsin and spent more than a dozen years leading their Professional Services teams.

Dave earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance from the University of Wisconsin–Madison.
